Report of the Superintendent of Schools.

The work of our schools for the past year may be pronounced more than usually successful. Of the forty terms below the high school only one could be called decidedly unsatisfactory. Most of the teachers have been above the average in ability, and there have been fewer changes among them than for several years. Exceptionally good weather, too, and an absence of epidemic sickness throughout the town have contributed materially in making the year a profitable one for the schools.

TRANSPORTATION.

The school at No. 2 had become so small that the school committee decided last fall to close it and have the scholars conveyed to the village. The change met with none of the opposition usually expected in such cases, and can only work beneficially for all concerned. It is unfortunate that with one exception the distance of several other small schools from one another will prevent farther consolidation. Twenty-one scholars from four districts are now receiving free transportation or its equivalent.

REPAIRS.

None of the more expensive repairs mentioned in last year's report have been made, as the appropriation was sufficient to meet only the usual current expenses in addition to the cost of repairing gutters, conductors, and chimney of the grammar school building, graining and varnishing settees, and staining and varnishing the desks at Millvale. The two school buildings on Bridge and First streets need special attention this year. While the rooms of both have been kept in good condition, the exteriors and the grounds present an appearance anything but creditable to the village. Nothing is gained certainly by postponing repairs the cost of which rapidly increases the longer they are deferred.

No better illustration of the effect on scholars of good surroundings is wanted than is afforded at the Millvale school.

From the time of entering the new schoolhouse the change in deportment and studiousness on the part of the pupils has been marked and continuous. Every dollar spent in this direction is repaid with interest in the quality and amount of work done in the schoolroom.

TEXT-BOOKS.

The basal series of Readers in use since 1901 was replaced this year by the Silver and Burdett series after careful examination of numerous competing books. They were placed in all the schools at the beginning of the fall term and are giving good satisfaction. The intended change in grammars was prevented by the unexpectedly large demand for new books for the high school. A comparatively small number of books in other branches have been bought, and by repairing and virtually rebinding some seventy of the geographies, grammars, algebras, and supplementary readers the expense has been kept as low as possible. The greater part of the expenditure has been for high school text-books. Purchases for this grade had been small for the past three years, amounting in that time to only $170.00, and in consequence many books had become too badly worn for farther use. For this reason and also because of the greatly increased attendance many new books were needed, and the total cost for the year has been $202.83.

The yearly cost of school books would be lessened one half if children could in some way be taught to use them with proper care. With all its benefits the free school book law has the serious defect of making children careless, almost incredibly so, in their treatment of public property. The repeated efforts of superintendent and teachers do not avail to effect any lasting reform of an evil that exists in all grades from the primary up to and through the high school. It is only slight consolation to know that the same evil in varying degrees is found in all schools and is not confined to ours alone.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

A few days before the beginning of the winter term Miss Keene, the well known and highly successful principal of the grammar school for so many years, resigned her position to take a business situation in another state. As a competent successor could not be found on short notice, Miss Bertha Dorr of Orland, who graduated from the school in 1902, took charge temporarily and filled the place very acceptably for three weeks, when Miss Pauline F. Devereux of Castine was engaged as principal. Miss Devereux is well fitted by training and experience for the position, and a successful career for the school under her management is confidently predicted.

The class graduating last June numbered twenty-two, and twenty of them entered the high school in the fall. During the year sixteen scholars from other parts of the town have been attending this school, and six from Orland and Verona.

HIGH SCHOOL.

For the year preceding the town meeting last spring the average number of Bucksport students at the seminary whose tuition is paid by the town had been about forty-five, and as there seemed no reason to suppose this number would be increased in the immediate future an appropriation equal to the expected demand was asked for and voted. At the opening of the fall term, however, fifty-eight pupils registered, and it became apparent that the amount would be insufficient if we were to pay tuition at the regular rates. To ascertain whether lower terms could not be secured, a meeting was held at the seminary of the S. S. Committee and four members of the Prudential Committee of the seminary. The result of the interview was a failure to obtain any reduction from the rates paid by other towns, the representatives of the seminary stating that the matter had been considered at a meeting of the trustees early in the year and a decision reached that no discount should be made in our case. As no concession could be obtained, tuition for that term was paid at the catalog rates, and the settlement of the matter left for the next town meeting, when some satisfactory arrangement can doubtless be made. We need high school privileges for our young people, and the seminary is fully equipped for supplying that need. The point in question is the reasonableness of asking for a discount from regular prices on our wholesale order.

As to the quality of the instruction given our students at this school and the work done by them no complaint will be made by any one familiar with the facts and acquainted with the merits of similar schools elsewhere. The furnishing of the commercial room last summer with the best style of modern desks at a cost of three hundred dollars is the latest of the many improvements that have made it possible for our students to be better served now than under any previous administration.

The ladies of the October Club have always taken a commendable interest in school affairs, and through their efforts State Superintendent Smith spent a day in town during the spring term, visiting some of the schools and giving in the evening a lecture that was much appreciated. A few weeks ago, also, some of the members arranged to have pictures from their dwellings hung in different schoolrooms and occasionally changed, and to give familiar talks to the children upon the subjects represented in the engravings. Similar interest in school matters by the adults of every neighborhood, in whatever manner expressed, would be a potent influence for good.

The following financial statement comprises only the bills paid between Feb. 22, 1908 and Feb. 15, 1909, dates at which some of the winter terms were still in session. The cost of board is included in the teacher's wages except in a few cases when the bill for board was presented too late for last year's report.

For the same reason $30.00 should be taken from the fuel account and added to that of last year where it properly belongs. The great increase in the bill for transportation is due partly to items of this kind amounting to $78.00 and partly to the cost of the new service from No. 2 on which $80.00 has been so far paid. As an offset to this, however, the town will save a hundred dollars or more yearly above the cost of conveyance by bringing this school to the village.

The S. S. Committee have held four recorded meetings during the year. Our relations have been most cordial, and I am their debtor for much needed advice and assistance.

Respectfully submitted,

A. A. LITTLEFIELD, Superintendent.
